Peer Review Reports.

1. In abstract unnecessarily more background and introductory materials added while focus should be on the findings (results) of the study.
2. It is better to avoid the keywords which are already in the title
3. Rewrite the sentence “The aging process occurs naturally … assistance for cosmetic reasons.” for better suitability.
4. Check the sentence “To fight against skin aging, there are various treatments are available ….. stem cell therapy [2]” for grammatical correction
5. What is thread lift, briefly mention in the introduction section
6. Give the suitable citation for the “The use of face lift thread benefits the patients immensely but they also carry significant risk”
7. Replace “see figure 1” with “figure 1” do the same for figure 2 also
8. Write the name of “M. tuberculosis” and other microbes such as mycobacterium fortuitum and mycobacterium massiliense as per binomial nomenclature system
9. The interpretation of case report in discussion is ok but it can be improved.
10. Revise conclusion for better soundness by drawing a future roadmap to avoid mycobacterium infection in face lift thread implantation

Overall the manuscript is prepared and presented in a nice manner but there are lots of grammatical mistakes and use of unscientific words, which should be improved for manuscript quality improvement.
